WILLIAMS REID DOES HIS OWN RACING

Most of the automobile race scenes for the photoplay, "The Hoarding Road," which stars Wallace Reid in the role of a young "speed-devil," were photographed on the Santa Monica race course.

For years this famous course has been the scene of many desperate and thrilling speed contests between some of the most noted racing drivers of the day, including Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the American ace of Aces, Teddy Tetzlaff, Barney Oldfield, and other well-known pilots to numerous in mention. The course is located near Los Angeles, where many famous races are produced.

Mr. Reid drove his own car for all the race scenes in the picture, attaining at times a speed of from 100 to 110 miles per hour. Mr. Reid came out at the finish without a scratch, thus proving himself a master in the art of driving a racing automobile.

"The Hoarding Road," which is showing at the Modern Theatre all this week, is founded on a series of stories by Byron Morgan which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

An Egg Comedian.
Even, even unknown ones, can furnish much comedy when in the hands of Mabel Normand. The sort of comedy she produces in the new comedy of her photoplay, "The Post," which is at the Modern Theatre this week, she has a whole host of helpful of eggs, which she carries through many scenes without mishap, and, when disaster does overtake her, it does not come with a stunner, but because Nature asserts herself.

This is how it comes about: As Puckers, the handsome designer, Miss Normand is told by her father to gather a quantity of eggs and take them at once to the house of the country judge, who will be a basket high with housewifery and struggles off with her precious burden.

Trusting the girl places the basket on the ground and looks wonderingly at the fashionably dressed young man. They regard Puckers with good colored amusement, and wonder what he has to say to her. Puckers' eyes travel down to the basket and she sees cause for her eyes to pop.

The basket is alive with tiny chicks. Not one egg remaining.

Puckers can only stammer and twist one leg around the other, trying to vindicate himself. Finally, she gives it up and blurs out the truth. Emily, her favorite hen, was romped with all the eggs to be hatched. Puckers just took them from her. Puckers, this is seen and the audience is halfway in the secret, though no one knows just what the outcome of the raid on Emily will be until the eggs are delivered. It nearly one of the funniest moments in "The Post."

Prize Among the Cops.
The entire Los Angeles Police Department aided Priscilla Dean in getting a photograph of her in the role of a young "speed-devil," which was photographed on the Santa Monica race course.

Washington Headquarters, Soldiers' Home, April 26—Information received from the office of the general staff indicates that the new Victory War Service medal will not be available for distribution for several months.

The medal is to be issued by the governments of all the allied nations, and the committee of the arts and handicrafts at Washington, is now engaged in working out a suitable design for the United States medal. The general specifications agreed upon by the international nations provide for a bronze medal 36 millimeters in diameter.

ARMY NOT COMPLETED.
On the overseas side will be a wound victory standing full length. On the reverse will be the inscription, "The greatest war for civilization in the language of the country concerned, and either the coats of arms or the names of the different allied nations."

Neither has the service ribbon yet been designed. It will be identical for all nations. The specifications call for the colors to be two rainbows placed together, the red being in the center and running vertically, beginning with violet and following with indigo, blue, green, yellow, orange and red, and again with violet, green, blue, indigo and violet.

The ribbons, being made in Paris and samples are to be sent to all countries, when completed. These ribbons are then to be manufactured by each country.

SILVER FOR WOUNDED.
The Victory label button which is to be worn chiefly by discharged officers and men on their civilian clothes may be described as a five-pointed star on a wreath with the letters "V" in the center. The button will be of silver for those awarded a decoration and bronze for all others.

It is understood that these buttons will be ready for distribution in the early part of May. Necessary blanks and forms for enlisted men and officers will be furnished to the various separate bureaus of the War Department as soon as they are printed.

HURRIED PRAYER BETTER THAN NO PRAYER

Is it proper to pray in haste? In knowing how the best of us are hurried by the war, the editor of the Boston American, 80 Summer st., Boston, Mass.

HIS GIANTS

BRAVES VS. GIANTS

Stained in mid-Manager George T. Stallings, in his best magnificent manner, as he led his Braves forth to assault the New York Giants for the first time in 1918.

Manager McGraw has a lot of revenge coming to him, an awful lot. The Giants treated his advice last season worse than the German Kaiser treated his. In the latter case, the Kaiser was not even given the courtesy of a trial.

But this is another year in baseball, an everybody against everybody. The Giants have announced the same plan to win as the Braves. McGraw, the illustrious pilot of the "Jinks," had a million-dollar plan all primed prior to the start. It was to win out, but the result was the fault of the million dollars, or the star pitcher.

This year McGraw has another million-dollar plan, but it appears to be woefully weak in the pitching department, without a good pitcher which no team can make the million look the much more than a tick.

FLETCHER BUNGLED IT. The star of the Braves, Fletch, who has Barnes, one time out of the Braves, and Casey, one very genuine appearing artillery expert.

The great Ferdinand Stabile had a bad reputation of being a little treacherous, and it is not even with him. Neither is Fletcher, the brilliant shortstop and speedster, who is not even with him.

These Giants have lost two out of three games already to the Phillies, and everybody in the world is saying that the Braves are going to win it all. It is all picked that crowd to win out of the league.

Wherefore, George T. Stallings may be a little bit of a mystery, but he is supposed to win out of the memory of the Giants' disaster.

The Braves have been hitting much better than the Braves, and the Braves have plenty of power in their line-up, and therefore, it seems up like three big battles with the New York Giants in our midst.

HAS KEPT UP PACE. The morale and spirit of the Braves has been helped along greatly by the resignation in three parts of the late manager, who is to be in his own home in the city.

The Philadelphia star Wednesday hasn't been entirely wanted as the Braves have been playing very well, and everything is going very well.

The New York team presents one of the mysteries of the league. It is a team that is supposed to win out of the memory of the Giants' disaster.

The Braves have been hitting much better than the Braves, and the Braves have plenty of power in their line-up, and therefore, it seems up like three big battles with the New York Giants in our midst.

SICKENING IN SHORT. The Braves have been hitting much better than the Braves, and the Braves have plenty of power in their line-up, and therefore, it seems up like three big battles with the New York Giants in our midst.

WILLIE MITCHELL NOW
BILL AT OWN REQUEST

It used to be Willie Mitchell, the Tiger outfielder, who was to be returned from service with the 11th Division in France, it is now Willie.

"Make it Bill," Mitchell told his manager when he reported. "I don't want to be called Willie. It sounds better that I be called Bill."

WASHINGTON, April 21. Apparently, there's nothing new about Boston. Playing their second game of the season, the Sox won't want another mud-splashed game. Incidentally, the Sox duplicated the Blue form of last year, when they won't want another mud-splashed game.

RUTH'S FIRST HOMER SCORING GIFT, CLAIMS FULLERTON

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.
Baseball's official opening indicates that the game has come back and that the revival is genuine rather than sporadic. The question now is whether or not the teams are good enough to justify the interest.

Oddly enough, interest, to judge by the attendance figures, was greater in New York and Cincinnati than in cities where we supposed the throngs would attend.

Nor is it certain what part the wonderful weather in the East opening day played in the fact that the attendance figures for opening day were larger than in five years, and second day figures were almost up to the normal in spite of the quick change in weather conditions.

At the Polo Grounds, on the opening day, I listened carefully to the fans and was forced to admit that they did not appear at all enthusiastic. There was a lot of talk about the Yankees, but there was almost as much talk about the Yankees as there was for the Yankees.

The talk was accounted for by the fact that the Yankees have away the game in the first inning, and that the Yankees have won by a bad looking margin.

Ruth's First Home Run
A Gift from Scorers.

It is a fact that is credited with a home run in his first time up this year. In justice to him, it must be said that he hit the ball hard enough to make two home runs. But his hit was a live drive almost directly over second base.

Duffy Lewis, in center, came racing forward to stop the ball and try to cut off a runner at the plate. In trying to make a fan play he allowed the ball to get past him and roll in the fence, and both followed the old Yankee home.

Ruth's scoring is misleading and indicates that the scorers' work with Ruth everything being done, he deserved a single on the hit because, doubtless, but to credit him with a home run is not fair.

It is rather early to commence judging ball games, and I have time for some only four in actual games. These four, however, are important pennant factors. The Giants did not improve as being a great team and it is to be expected that the pitching staff is a tremendous problem which has become growing.

Jawa McGraw Has No Confidence in His Boxmen.
McGraw is not confident of his boxmen, who have given him double chances of blundering in making changes.

Also the fact that neither the manager of the Yankees nor the manager of the Giants is in the pitcher's box is a fact that is not to be overlooked. McGraw is so sure of his boxmen that he is not to be overlooked. McGraw is so sure of his boxmen that he is not to be overlooked.

MARYLAND CITY IS NOT AFTER BIG FIGHT

Cumberland, Md., April 28.—The effort to bring the Willard-Dempsey fight to this place has been working up a headwind.

A meeting was held at the Ford-Cumberland Hotel by managers recently returned from France to argue that the fight be moved here.

A score of managers are among the hundreds of people who have telegraphed Governor Harrington at Baltimore that they want the fight and asking him to see that every obstacle be removed.

A census shows that eight clerical men of the city are not opposed to the fight and one minister said he saw no harm in a person attending such a contest if it were able to get pleasure and recreation out of it.

Tom Rickard has returned to New York and John S. Brown has been invited the fight promoter in the city.
